ONLINE SHOPPING MEETS PERSONAL SHOPPING
Online Jewelry Boutique, Limón Verde, Features Handpicked
One-Of-A-Kind Pieces from Around the World

ATLANTA, GA – Most women will agree that one of the best parts of traveling abroad is the shopping and coming home with that beautiful, unique accessory unavailable at the department stores or popular websites. Yet as the cost of travel escalates this is but another luxury that will be abandoned. Enter Limón Verde (www.LimonVerde.com), a new online jewelry boutique specializing in unique, handcrafted, artisan pieces from around the globe at affordable prices.

Each piece in the Limón Verde collection is handpicked by company owner Kalen Redmon, who has been traveling the world since August 2008 selecting the perfect pieces for the company's launch in July 2009. Due to this meticulous selection process, the collection is available in very limited quantities and customers are encouraged to "get it while they can," as pieces can sell out quickly. Redmon promises to keep customers updated on her travels and new additions to the collection via Twitter and Facebook.

"I created Limón Verde with the simple idea of providing our customers with the same kind of unique, cultural jewelry that I love to purchase when I travel," said Redmon. "The pieces, each under $100, are perfect for the woman looking for something different that none of her friends will have without having to travel or spend a fortune."

Limón Verde offers customers the rare opportunity to purchase original pieces from international artists. It currently features the work of Colombian jewelers Ledys y Luis who specialize in Momposa Filigrana, a beautiful style of jewelry making native to their country.

Launched in July 2009, Limón Verde (www.LimonVerde.com) is an Atlanta-based online jewelry boutique that specializes in affordable, one-of-a-kind, handcrafted pieces from around the world personally selected by the owner, Kalen Redmon.
